Global Watch Weekly Report

Welcome to the Global Watch Weekly Report

Dear Global Watch Weekly Member

By the time you have read this report it will probably be a day or two before September 23rd 2015. From this date until the end of September some bible scholars believe something big is going to happen which will dramatically alter the global economic and political landscape.

But this is not limited just to bible prophecy buffs. Even secular wall street analysts are predicting something traumatic is going to hit the global currency sector this autumn.

And there are other seemingly unrelated things happening all in the month of September.

For instance Israel has just entered and celebrated her 70th week on September 13th.

Also Pope Francis visits Barack Obama on 23rd September and then addresses Congress and the American people on 24th September before going on to speak at the United Nations about climate change.

Even in Hollywood movies a significant number of seeming coincidences have been raised about 23rd September as a pivotal date.

In the movie "Evan Almighty" in which we have a modern day Noah and his ark portrayed, God tells Evan to get into his ark on September 22nd before noon. Soon after the dam breaks and the waters coming rushing out.

In the movie "Knowing" a time capsule is buried and then at the appointed time it was dug up and Nicholas Cage decodes the numbers that foretell future events. The numbers 9-22, 9-23 and 9-24 show up many times.

In the movie "Left Behind" you see an airport scene where Gateways 9 and 23 are shown. Airport gates are symbolic of "departure" or leaving by going into the heavens.

Can we take the claims seriously which purport that the stock market is going to crash or some major event is going to happen between now and the end of September. How do we know or define what will be major?

We start this edition of the Global Watch Weekly with an interesting article put out by the Inquisitr, an internationally recognized news website read by more than 40 million unique visitors each month.

INQUISITR PICKS UP ON A SPECIFIC TREND

Since the Inquisitr first reported on August 8 on a growing parareligious grassroots movement predicting a global stock market crash in the fall of 2015, other news outlets have begun reporting on the movement spreading quietly on the Internet.

The Inquisitr reported that a small but influential circle of financial market gurus and Judeo-Christian end-time theorists have been making mass anxiety-arousing predictions of doom that could lead to full-fledged financial market hysteria.

The financial market gurus are warning that we have reached the end stage of a financial bubble and that the bubble is about to burst, while biblical apocalypse conspiracy theorists are proclaiming with evangelical fervor that the inevitable burst will occur soon after September 13, the end the Shemitah year in the Jewish religious calendar.

Financial market gurus predicting a global financial market crash include David Stockman and Larry Edelson. The other group, consisting of Judeo-Christian eschatology preachers, such as Jonathan Cahn, claim that the month of September in 2015 has special biblical eschatological significance.

Pointing to the recent crisis in China's stock market as the signal, David Stockman, former director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under President Reagan, proclaimed recently on CNBC's "Futures Now" that the U.S. stock market is about to collapse.

Stockman, like other gurus predicting global stock market collapse, claims that the current financial bubble is about to burst with catastrophic consequences for the entire world.

Gerald Celente, a financial market trends forecaster, who reportedly predicted the 2008 financial crisis, declared that an "economic earthquake" will occur in September.

"You're going to see a global stock market crash. There's going to be panic on the streets from Wall Street to Shanghai, to the UK down to Brazil. You're going to see one market after another begin to collapse."

Robert Bridge, a U.S. "investigative journalist," whose articles "have been featured in... The Drudge Report, Russia Insider and Infowars.com," published recently an opinion piece on RT, titled "Bad Moon rising: Americans bracing for September Shock."

In the article, he highlighted the current apocalyptic predictions for the global financial market, citing Doug Casey, head of Casey Research, who accused the U.S. government of "building up to a catastrophe of historic proportions" through its quantitative easing monetary policy.

"With these stupid governments printing trillions and trillions of new currency, it's building up to a catastrophe of historic proportions."

He advised people against keeping money in financial institutions, saying, "Most of the banks in the world are bankrupt."

The Inquisitr reported that Larry Edelson, senior analyst at Weiss Research, predicted that global financial collapse will occur in October 7.

"On October 7, 2015, the first economic super cycle since 1929 will trigger a global financial crisis of epic proportions. It will bring Europe, Japan and the United States to their knees, sending nearly one billion human beings on a roller-coaster ride through hell for the next five years. A ride like no generation has ever seen. I am 100 percent confident it will hit within the next few months."

Some believe that the predictions of global financial market crash on September 13 is part of a wider politically-motivated campaign by the far-right wing conspiracy theory movement, orchestrating systematically, the convergence of separate strands of the conspiracy theory movement's predictions — asteroid apocalypse, Planet X/Nibiru cataclysm rumor-mongering, earthquake apocalypse, blood moon prophecies, and NWO-Illuminati/Jade Helm 15 conspiracy theories.

The recent ramping up of global stock market crash predictions based of alleged biblical "prophetic keys" is the final strand of the ongoing convergence of the political conspiracy theory movement.

The Inquisitr warned in its earlier report that the ongoing financial meltdown mass fear-mongering campaign could — unlike the concurrently ongoing asteroid apocalypse doomsday fear-mongering — generate a catastrophic self-fulfilling prophecy scenario.

"Although the mainstream media has ignored the burgeoning parareligious financial meltdown apocalypse movement spearheaded by religious prophetic figures such as Jonathan Cahn, the social and cultural phenomenon is significant because it could generate a self-fulfilling prophecy scenario."

"Mass anxiety about global financial collapse stoked by self-appointed prophets could lead to human actions that trigger to a self-fulfilling prophecy scenario. Widespread fears of impending financial meltdown could cause large numbers of people acting independently to take actions that cause the predicted meltdown."

The biblical end-time financial meltdown apocalypse movement appears to have originated in the Judeo-Christian eschatological teachings of Jonathan Cahn, who has won large following among biblical end-time prophecy watchers with predictions based on the idea that September 13, the end of the Jewish Shemitah year — "the seventh year of the seven-year agricultural cycle of the Jewish Torah" — marks the beginning of the period of divine judgment against America.

According to Cahn, author of the bestselling eschatological books, The Harbinger and The Mystery of The Shemitah, the Jewish Shemitah year, which ends on September 13 (Elul 29), is a Sabbath year when the ancient Hebrews were required under the Mosaic law to allow the land to rest from agricultural activity.

During that year, the nation of Israel ceased all activity related directly to planting and harvesting. Noting a pattern of major financial crashes coinciding with Shemitah years — including 2008 — Cahn argues that because of national sin, the Shemitah year became a prophetic sign of divine judgment against Israel.

He claims that the sign of judgment in the Shemitah year now applies to America due to national sins, such as same-sex marriage. "A great shaking is going to come to this land and to the world that will involve the collapsing of the American economy... and the removal of its blessings and prosperity."

PICKING UP FROM THE INQUISITR ARTICLE

So lets pick up from the Inquisitr article.

Is the stock market going to crash by the end of 2015? Of course stock market crashes are already happening in 23 different nations around the planet, but most Americans don't really care about those markets.

The truth is that what matters to people in this country is the health of their own stock portfolios and retirement accounts. There are a lot of people out there that are very afraid of what could happen if the money that they have worked so hard to save gets wiped out in a sudden financial collapse. And right now there is an unprecedented amount of buzz about the potential for a giant stock market crash by the end of this calendar year.

In fact, I don't think that I have ever seen more experts come out with bold predictions that a stock market crash will happen within a very specific period of time.

The following is a sampling of some of the experts that have made very bold proclamations about the rest of this year over the past few weeks. Many of these individuals are putting their credibility on the line by proclaiming that a stock market crash is just around the corner...

Tom McClellan says that we are heading for an "ugly decline" and that there will be "nothing good for bulls for the rest of the year". Tom loves doing what financial advisers tell you not to do. He tries to time the financial markets — to the exact day, if his charts align just right.

At the moment, they are telling him to be bullish on the stock market for all of his trading time frames, including those that trade every few days, weeks and months. But bulls should be ready to flee, as soon as this week.

That's because McClellan said his timing models suggest "THE" top in stocks would be hit some time between August 20 and August 26. He expects "nothing good for the bulls for the rest of the year," he said in a phone interview with MarketWatch.

McClellan doesn't have a strong view on how far stocks could fall, just that it will probably be an "ugly decline" lasting into early 2016.

Harry Dent recently stated that we are just "weeks away" from a "global financial collapse".

Gerald Celente who we have already heard from says that "the global economy has collapsed" and he is "predicting that we are going to see a global stock market crash before the end of the year".

Larry Edelson insists that he is "100% confident" that a global financial crisis will be triggered "within the next few months"...

"On October 7, 2015, the first economic supercycle since 1929 will trigger a global financial crisis of epic proportions. It will bring Europe, Japan and the United States to their knees, sending nearly one billion human beings on a roller-coaster ride through hell for the next five years. A ride like no generation has ever seen. I am 100% confident it will hit within the next few months."

Jeff Berwick, the editor of the Dollar Vigilante, says that there is "enough going on in September to have me incredibly curious and concerned about what's going to happen".

Even the mainstream media is issuing ominous warnings now. Just a few days ago, one of the most important newspapers in the entire world published a major story about the coming crisis under this headline: "Doomsday clock for global market crash strikes one minute to midnight as central banks lose control".

The Bank for International Settlements and the IMF have jumped on the prediction bandwagon as well. The following comes from a recent piece by Brandon Smith...

"The BIS warns that the world is currently defenseless against the next market crisis. I would point out that the BIS has a record of predicting economic crashes, including back in 2007 just before the derivatives and credit crisis began. This ability to foresee fiscal disasters is far more likely due to the fact that the BIS is the dominant force in global central banking and is the cause of crisis, rather than merely a predictor of crisis. That is to say, it is easy to predict disasters you yourself are about to initiate."

WARNING SIGN TREMOR

If something big is about to happen then was August 24th 2015 a warning tremor. Investors around the globe were catching their breath after one of the worst day's trading in many years. They're now pondering whether this day marked the start of a new and alarming phase of the crisis which began some eight years ago.

After an unprecedented 1,000-point decline at the open on Monday, the Dow Jones closed with a loss of nearly 600 points. It was an extremely turbulent day for U.S. stocks driven by deep fears about China's economic slowdown. Stocks staged a comeback that nearly brought the Dow back into positive territory but that ultimately failed. The 588-point decline was the worst for the Dow since August 2011.

Global fears about China's economic slowdown are shaking stock markets around the world. The wave of selling knocked the S&P 500 into correction mode for the first time since 2011 and the Dow to its lowest close in a year and a half.

Within minutes after the opening bell, the Dow plummeted 1,089 points. That is the largest point loss ever during a trading day, surpassing the Flash Crash of 2010.

"We have not seen this level of full-blown panic in markets for quite some time," said Peter Kenny, chief market strategist at Clear Pool Group, a financial technology firm.

Stock prices for a number of iconic American companies declined dramatically in an instant. Shares of General Electric (GE) and Pepsi (PEP) crashed more than 20% apiece at one point, while Costco (COST) fell 16%.

The recent yuan decline lasted three days and then stopped. Since that time the Yuan has not moved up or down, it has moved sideways as it did for many months before the recent decline. Some believe the panic is an overreaction to yuan weakness that has not developed. They believe that when the market realizes that there will be no China meltdown at this time, stocks will recover because corporate profit and economic growth are rising at a modest rate and interest rates have not risen dramatically.

STOCK MARKET, SHEMITAH, SEPTEMBER 2015

SHEMITAH FACTOR

Never has an issue divided Christians in recent times as the concept of the Shemitah.

If you haven't heard of the "Shemitah" its something you might want to pay special attention to. You probably have already been aware about the prophecy of the four Blood Moon tetrads but the Shemitah is something significantly different which incredibly also converges on the September 2015 timeline that the four blood moon prophecy does.

The concept is connected to a biblical pattern which seems to have coincided with events of significant world influence such as the rise of America to super power status, World War I, World War II, the restoration of Israel in 1948, the Six day war in 1967 in which the Israelis captured Jerusalem and even the rising of the World Trade Center. However more recently it would seem the concept has also coincided with global economic failures.

The man responsible for this, Jonathan Cahn, is also a best selling author of The Harbinger. During his studies he also noted a pattern of judgments at seven-year intervals in September 2001 and 2008 marked by the greatest crashes in Wall Street history, up to that time. The first occurred on Sept. 17, 2001, just a few days after the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks, and the second occurred on Sept. 29, 2008. Both occurred on the biblical day of Elul 29, the very day appointed to wipe out the financial accounts of a nation according to Isaiah 9:10.

Jonathan Cahn has been a regular guest on The Jim Bakker Show in connection with both The Harbinger and The Mystery of the Shemitah in which he makes a connection between the Shemitah and the blood moon tetrad, discovered and popularized by Biltz. Mark Biltz has also been a regular guest on Bakker's program in connection with his book Blood Moons: Decoding the Imminent Heavenly Signs—and has spoken at Cahn's church, Beth Israel Worship Center. WND actually billed the weekend he was there in June as "The Harbinger meets Blood Moons."

The next Shemitah date according to Cahn was supposed to have occurred on September 13, 2015 with September 23rd being the date of the super Shemitah.

Several months ago we released an insight into this and received significant number of hate email from people who lashed out at us for daring to examine and question some of the prophecies of Jonathan Cahn. Note we didn't accuse Cahn of being a false prophet, we simply examined some of the scriptures he was using to justify his arguments for something happening in September 2015.

So roll on a few days after September 13th 2015 and this article appeared in Right Wing Watch.

"After predicting for the entire last year that "The Shemitah" on Sunday, September 13, would usher in some cataclysmic event in America — possibly an economic crash, inclement weather, war or terrorist attacks — messianic rabbi Jonathan Cahn appeared on "The 700 Club" today to save face (and sell more books) after September 13 came and went without anything out of the ordinary happening.

When host Pat Robertson asked him if anything noteworthy happened on the 13th, Cahn first tried to avoid the question but eventually told the televangelist that "you can't put God in a box or He'll get out of it," saying that God doesn't work in exact dates.

Of course, Cahn himself declared that this potential disaster would occur on an "exact date ... in accordance with the ancient mystery" of the Shemitah, a day when the land is left fallow and debts are forgiven. "The coming Shemitah will end September 2015. Its final climatic day, Elul 29, the Day of Remission, will fall on Sunday, September 13," he wrote in "The Harbinger."

WorldNetDaily repeatedly reported on Cahn's September 13 prophecy, with messages like "Mark This Date For Potential Disaster," "Get Ready: Biblical Shemitah Begins This Week," and "Countdown To Disaster." WND is even making a movie about Cahn's prophetic message.

STOCK MARKET, SHEMITAH, SEPTEMBER 2015

Cahn, however, said that the stock market selloff that occurred on August 18 of this year came close enough to the September 13 date to count as a fulfillment of his prophecy. "It started in the summer," he said. He also pointed to Sunday's relatively minor earthquake off the Gulf of California, which is actually located in Mexico and doesn't even touch the U.S. As if Cahn couldn't get any more vague, he also said that the Shemitah period marked America's decline from the world's leading economic power.

Moving the goalposts even further, Cahn went on to claim that his prophecy would be proven correct as long as something bad happens anytime between now and September 2016: "That's the period."

So once something, anything, bad happens within the year, Cahn will take credit for predicting it!"

However other media giants in the Christian world are taking a more balanced approach to the debate about the Shemitah. Charisma Magazine states

"After much talk about the coming Shemitah Cahn talks about in his best-selling book, the date of Sept. 13 has finally passed. Although Cahn warns of the great shaking that is to come, he cautions against focusing on dates. He says that God could also choose to relent, and if that is the case, judgment will not come. Prayer and repentance is the key.

Cahn describes a great shaking that is coming to America and the world. He believes a shaking is coming in the financial and economic realms that could include a collapse. As the apostasy of America continues, and even accelerates, the nation looks to progress to judgment. Judgment can come in many forms, such as financial collapse, natural disasters, man-made disaster such as terrorism and war. Even though we have passed the end of the present Shemitah on Sept. 13, some form of judgment is possible. The next one will begin on Sept. 26, Yom Kippur, and end in September 2016.

Cahn also says the Supreme Court decision to allow gay marriage was a tectonic shift in the nation. He says that at that time, Christianity became a counter-culture faith rather than a cultural faith. Over time, the divide between Christians and non-Christians will increase. This will force people to be totally "dark" or totally "light." Jonathan says people can prepare for this shift by getting "plugged in" to the presence of God in prayer and worship as well as ground themselves in the Word of God."

Since the release of Jonathan Cahn's The Mystery of Shemitah, the topic of the Shemitah and the destiny of America has become a divisive issue. Good and inspired men and women of God on both sides of the fence have been emotionally charged about this concept which is attracting interest like wildfire across America. Is Cahn teaching what is known as "replacement theology", taking prophecies specifically targeted for the nation of Israel and trying to apply them to gentile nations such as the United States? Is Cahn providing a parachute way of escape by constantly saying that God does not need to continue following any pattern as he alone is omnipotent? Is the Shemitah prophecy a thorn in the American Christian community because it talks about hardship, poverty and tribulation rather than blessing and increase?

For both Jonathan Cahn and Mark Blitz who heads El Shaddai Ministries, September 2015 is a massive month. A real massive month. Between this month and September 2016 there has to be a major worldwide event that validates both of their prophecy concepts. For Jonathan Cahn its a possible worldwide financial stock market crash and for Blitz and his supporters it could be a war involving Israel and her neighbors.

The four blood moon prophecy which originated with Biltz and which was taken mainstream by John Hagee, is based on the concept there have only been 7 Blood Moon Tetrads between Jesus Christ's first coming and 2013, and every time they happened it has been proven that there was some significant event which impacted upon the Jewish people within a year of the first or last eclipse of the tetrad.

Of the most recent blood moon tetrads which started in 2014, three have now passed and the final one will take place on September 28th, 2015. What makes the September 28th blood moon distinct from the other is that not only is it the closing one of the four, its the only one of the four lunar eclipses which will be visible to Israel before sunrise. All 3 previous were visible to the gentile world only.

Do you believe something will happen between now and the end of September? What if September comes and goes without anything major. Where do you stand on this issue?

STOCK MARKET, SHEMITAH, SEPTEMBER 2015

THE KEY POINT: BABYLON WILL FALL

The key point we want to focus on is that regardless of whether the prophecies of the Shemitah and the Four Blood Moons actually come to pass or not according to the timelines of Jonathan Cahn and Mark Biltz, this in no way has any impact on the fact that the Bible specifically talks about economic turmoil at the time that the new world order is implemented in the run up to the second coming of Christ.

Does the Bible really have something to say about the times we are living in and what we could be facing with this sudden economic turmoil? Off course.

For starters, we're not saying that if you scour the prophecies of Ezekiel or Daniel you'll find predictions about the fall of Lehman Brothers and the like. That's not what the Bible is about. Instead, the Bible, particularly prophecy, paints the future with wide brushstrokes. Though there can be some startlingly precise predictions in certain texts, many of the prophecies simply help us see how a book written thousands of years ago can depict the broad outline of the future, even the times that we are living in, and this helps build our confidence in it as the Word of God.

Jesus Himself expressed the principle best when He said, "I am telling you now before it happens, so that when it does happen you will believe that I am He" (John 13:19). In other words, when it happens you'll know that I warned you about it. Thus, prophecy helps prepare us beforehand for what's coming next.

There's no question that, almost two thousand years ago, the book of Revelation predicted economic turmoil and collapse just before the return of Jesus. Revelation 18 describes a time of great moral and political apostasy and worldwide rebellion against God. In the book of Revelation itself, Babylon is a symbol for the religious and political powers that rule today, specifically the masonic Babylonian financial system and also the religious system.

Babylon, you will recall, is the ancient empire that destroyed God's holy city, Jerusalem, and took many of His people into captivity some 2,500 years ago.

Here's how Revelation describes this great religious and political power:

"'Fallen! Fallen is Babylon the Great! / She has become a home for demons / and a haunt for every evil spirit, / a haunt for every unclean and detestable bird. / For all the nations have drunk / the maddening wine of her adulteries. / The kings of the earth committed adultery with her, / and the merchants of the earth grew rich from her excessive luxuries'" (Revelation 18:2, 3).

These verses point to several things. First, Babylon is a corrupt political, religious, and moral system. In the Bible, the idea of nations or systems committing "adultery" is a symbol for turning away from the true faith and following after false beliefs.

Secondly, the statement that Babylon commits adultery with "the kings of the earth" shows how truly worldwide Babylon's reach is. This fits very well with today's global economy. At the click of a mouse, money, information, and ideas spread around the world at the speed of light. The Internet and massive global communications have made all this so much more possible today than at the time of John the revelator, who wrote almost two thousand years ago.

Third, these verses show how, in the midst of this corrupt system, many "merchants," symbolic of business and commerce, will grow "rich from her excessive luxuries." One has to think only of the multimillion dollar salaries and bonuses some of these executives have been making—even from companies that, under their direction, lost billions of dollars—to have an idea of the kind of greed that the prophecy is talking about.

Fourthly, the Bible warns of a time when many people will have to work an entire day just to have enough money to purchase a loaf of bread. The contrast between what we mentioned above and this shows the stark divide between the wealthy and the every day man during this time.

STOCK MARKET, SHEMITAH, SEPTEMBER 2015

BABYLONIAN SYSTEM COLLAPSE

What is the fate of this system called Babylon?
Revelation is very clear:

“Woe! Woe, O great city, O Babylon, city of power! In one hour your doom has come!” “The merchants of the earth will weep and mourn over her because no one buys their cargoes any more— cargoes of gold, silver, precious stones and pearls; fine linen, purple, silk and scarlet cloth; every sort of citron wood, and articles of every kind made of ivory, costly wood, bronze, iron and marble; cargoes of cinnamon and spice, of incense, myrrh and frankincense, of wine and olive oil, of fine flour and wheat; cattle and sheep; horses and carriages; and bodies and souls of men. “They will say, ‘The fruit you longed for is gone from you. All your riches and splendor have vanished, never to be recovered.’ The merchants who sold these things and gained their wealth from her will stand far off, terrified at her torment” (Revelation 18:10–15).

The details aren’t important; but the story they tell is: The Babylonian system will face economic ruin. The whole system will come crashing down, and the riches and wealth that people and institutions had hoarded will vanish instantly. And it will all happen “in one hour”! If nothing else, this suggests how quickly financial ruin can happen. Indeed, as we have seen during some of Wall Street’s recent bad days, trillions of dollars can disappear into thin air overnight!

NO MAN CAN BUY OR SELL

And this isn’t all that Revelation has to say about the world’s economy in the last days. After warning about the false teachings of the world’s political and religious systems and their rebellion against God, it speaks of economic persecution against those who refuse to go along with the prevailing religious and political powers:

“He also forced everyone, small and great, rich and poor, free and slave, to receive a mark on his right hand or on his forehead, so that no one could buy or sell unless he had the mark, which is the name of the beast or the number of his name” (Revelation 13:16, 17).

Over the past couple of millenniums, there’s been a great deal of speculation about exactly what this means. One thing seems clear: There will be great economic pressure on everyone to conform to the politically correct religious system, and those who refuse will be persecuted.

FINAL CONCLUSION

Right now the economies of many nations seem to be stable despite a few crisis areas like Greece, Cyprus Portugal, and others.

The notion that the economic condition of the world is fine right now is a false one. Regardless of what the Fed, the administration, or your personal financial portfolio communicates about the current economic situation...it won’t last. A time is coming when the dollar will collapse and the conditions will be set for a global economy under the control of the Antichrist.

The point I’m making is that this charade cannot continue much longer. The communist Chinese government, the Russians, India, and Brazil are very aware of our problems and there have been renewed calls for the replacement of the dollar as the world’s reserve currency. It’s hard to imagine the dollar being replaced by another currency as the world’s economic benchmark, but it could very well happen.

Is it possible to wake up one morning and see the dollar slide into a death spiral, stocks in a free fall, and hyper inflation?...I believe it is.

James 5:1-6 “Come now, you rich, weep and howl for the miseries that are coming upon you. Your riches have rotted and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver have corroded, and their corrosion will be evidence against you and will eat your flesh like fire. You have laid up treasure in the last days. Behold, the wages of the laborers who mowed your fields, which you kept back by fraud, are crying out against you, and the cries of the harvesters have reached the ears of the Lord of hosts. You have lived on the earth in luxury and in self-indulgence. You have fattened your hearts in a day of slaughter. You have condemned and murdered the righteous person. He does not resist you.”
